Complex Colorectal Laparoscopic Surgeries

At Al Kindi Hospital, we prioritize advanced, minimally invasive care to ensure superior patient outcomes. Dr. Raed AlMarzooq, Consultant General Surgeon, Surgical Oncologist & Colorectal Surgeon. Recently performed three highly successful laparoscopic surgeries on patients in their 60s and 70s, demonstrating our team's capability in managing complex cases.

Case 1: A female patient presented with a right colon mass. Preoperative checks showed her colon was embryonically displaced toward the midline of the abdomen instead of its normal position. Despite this structural variation, the laparoscopic approach was fully successful, and she was discharged in excellent health.

Cases 2 & 3: A male patient (left colon malignant tumor) and a female patient (right colon malignant tumor) both underwent successful laparoscopic resections, achieving optimal tumor clearance and smooth recoveries.

Why Laparoscopy?

Minimally invasive surgery offers profound advantages over traditional open surgery:

For Surgeons: High-definition visualization allows for precise tissue dissection, which is crucial for achieving clear oncological margins during tumor removal.

For Patients: Smaller incisions result in significantly less postoperative pain, accelerated healing, and a much faster return home.

These successful outcomes highlight Al Kindi Hospital's commitment to utilizing cutting-edge technology for safer, more comfortable patient journeys.

Penile Implants for Erectile Dysfunction in Men

We are delighted to share a new medical success story at Al Kindi Hospital. Dr. Mahmoud Sharaf, Consultant Uro-Genital Surgeon & FEBU (Int.), has successfully performed a specialized three-piece inflatable penile implant surgery for a patient in his mid-40s who was experiencing severe erectile dysfunction.

Chosen as the definitive solution for his condition, the procedure went smoothly, and the patient is now comfortably recovering. Our clinical team is providing dedicated post-operative aftercare and expert medical guidance to support his journey back to full health.

At Al Kindi Hospital, we believe that healthcare is not just about treatment, but about restoring confidence and building a brighter future

Combined Mastectomy and Total Abdominal Hysterectomy with Bilateral Salpingo-Oophorectomy

Following a thorough evaluation by Dr. Maha Ghorabah to verify the mass was benign, the team opted for a combined surgical approach to address both conditions simultaneously.

The patient underwent a Left Mastectomy and Sentinel Lymph Node Biopsy, followed immediately by a Total Abdominal Hysterectomy and Bilateral Salpingo-Oophorectomy (TAH & BSO). The patient made an uneventful recovery, and post-operative histopathology successfully confirmed the benign ovarian thecoma diagnosis and complete surgical removal of breast and ovarian pathology.
